

● {{REPORT SERIES NAME}}

{{Report card title: what is being graded, and on what}}

{{One paragraph: what this report card measures, whose numbers it uses, and what the grades mean for the reader. State that grades are your judgment and evidence is the checkable part.}}

SOURCES: {{primary sources with dates/IDs; where secondary sources fill gaps, say so}}. Retrieved {{date}}.

{{Graded rows section title}}

{{Grade scale reminder: A = ... · F = ...}}

{{Entity earning the top grade}}

{{headline metric, e.g. 36% of target}}

{{Evidence with source IDs. Lead with the number, follow with what it means. Include the docked-points reason even for the top grade.}}

{{As of: date — source}}

{{Middle-grade entity}}

{{metric}}

{{Evidence — what's working, what's thin. Middle grades need the clearest reasoning because they're the contestable ones.}}

{{As of: date — source}}

{{Failing entity}}

{{the zero/stalled metric}}

{{Evidence for the failing grade — quote the official source's own words where possible; an F should never rest on your paraphrase alone.}}

{{As of: date — source}}

{{Named-entities section, e.g. who is actually delivering}}

{{chip legend}}

{{Group name}}

{{DELIVERING / PRODUCING}}

{{Entity — with source ID}}

{{Entity}}

{{COMMITTED / APPROVED}}

{{Entity}}

{{Entity}}

{{Entity}}

GAP

{{What the official record does NOT name — keep attribution honest.}}

{{PATTERN CALLOUT LABEL}}

{{The cross-cutting observation the individual rows add up to — the report card's actual thesis.}}

CORRECTIONS & METHODOLOGY NOTES

- {{Grade criteria, stated plainly.}}
- {{Any figure that supersedes an earlier publication of yours — say which and why.}}
- {{Known gaps — what could not be verified anywhere official.}}
- Underlying data: {{link to the data JSON}}.

{{repo/author — derived research synthesis; not an official publication}}